Mass of Icy Air Envelopes Much of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A huge mass of icy air enveloped much of the country today from the eastern Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Dixie got its chilliest weather of the year.

The cold came in the wake of a heavy snowstorm on the first day of winter which left a blanket of white across wide areas. Not much relief from the cold in the eastern half of the country was in prospect immediately.

At least 55 deaths were blamed on the snow, cold and blustery weather. Ohio alone counted 25 deaths, 24 due to overexertion while shoveling snow. Other storm deaths included 8 in Illinois, 5 in Michigan, 4 each in Kentucky, Missouri, New York and Indiana and 1 in West Virginia.

It was much colder in Atlanta this morning than in Anchorage, Alaska, as the mercury dipped to 13 above in the Georgia metropolis. At the same time it was 28 in Anchorage.

The cold air covered parts of northwest Florida, with a reading of 29 in Gainesville. It was freezing in Daytona Beach and a cool 45 in Miami.

Westerly winds broke in half the 10,417-ton tanker Pine Ridge about 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, the storied graveyard of the Atlantic. The tanker carried a crew of 39.

The below-zero temperatures, which were general in much of the area from Montana and North-east Wyoming eastward to the upper Mississippi spread into the Q-to Valley during the night.

Louisville, Ky., shivered in a below zero, the same reading as in Terre Haute, Ind. Ohio also was hit by subzero marks, with some areas reporting around -1. It was a chilly 9 above in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The mercury, which failed to climb above zero in some northern Midwest areas Wednesday, plunged deeper during the night. C's of the coldest spots was Miles City, Mont., with -13.

Local Product on Market Here Thurs

Roxanne's Homemade sausage will make its appearance in the city Thursday, a product made in Hope.

This new product is processed and packed in Roxie's Sausage Kitchen by Roxie and Ray Lawrence. The recipe used has been in the Lawrence family for over 100 years.

The pig parlor type of hog raising is new and modern and has proved the best way to produce the finest pork. Total confinement hog raising eliminates disease problems and assures the public the finest pork available.

Roxanne's sausage is made from Hampshire County hogs produced by the parlor type plan. This new product is available at your local grocery store beginning Thursday.

Man Jailed by Mistake Is Now Free

MCLESTER, Okla. (AP) — Louis Bennett, a free man today. He says he holds no bitterness about serving more than three years in the Oklahoma penitentiary for a crime another man apparently committed.

"All I want to do is forget this place," the 41-year-old plumber said Wednesday as he walked out of the prison.

Bennett was given a leave of absence by Gov. J. Howard Edmondson. A full pardon is expected.

Bennett, a former Arkansas convict, planned to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Bennett in Lawton, Okla. He was arrested in 1957 after a Texas convict Leonard McClain started the chain of events leading to Bennett's freedom when he told Texas officials last week that it was he who fatally beat Fred Ernest, 70, of Bartlesville.

Bennett had pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter in the 1957 slaying and was sentenced to 35 years in prison. McClain currently is serving life in Texas for the murder of his landlady in Dallas, also in 1957.

Bennett said he held no bitterness toward anyone although he thinks he was not treated fairly by Washington County officials.

"They told me they all knew I did it and if I didn't confess I might get the chair," he said. He added that he had been drinking heavily and didn't know where he had been when the slaying occurred.

"I always hoped that something would happen to get me out while my mother still was alive," Bennett said. "She's the only person in the world who believed I wasn't guilty."

Oklahoma officers, after checking McClain's story and giving Bennett a lie detector test, agreed with her.

Bennett served Arkansas terms for burglary, robbery and grand larceny during the 1930s and early 1940s.

NLR School Figure Dies in Jail

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Brady Deese, 51, president of the North Little Rock school board, was found dead today in Stuttgart City jail where he was being held on a traffic charge.

Stuttgart police said officer Herbert Haller found the body at 7:10 a. m. as he was serving breakfast. Coroner Russell McCollum said Deese died of heart failure.

Police said Deese, a sporting goods and hardware store proprietor, was involved in a traffic accident Wednesday five miles north of Stuttgart in Prairie County. He was brought to a Stuttgart hospital, treated for apparent minor injuries, and released to Stuttgart police on a hold order issued in Prairie County, officers said.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Harper of Hazen said Deese's bond on the traffic charge was $111.

Police said Deese was in apparent good health when he was visited in his cell by officers about 8:30 Wednesday night.

Insists High Power Costs Closed Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Did a national recession or high power costs cause Reynolds Metals Co. to decide to close its aluminum reduction plant near Arkadelphia? Saline Rep. Virgil Fletcher today renewed his charge that power cost was the determining factor. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has blamed a recession.

Reynolds, in announcing the decision to close, said declining demand for aluminum (a recession factor) and power costs were considerations.

R. E. Ritchie, board chairman of Arkansas Power and Light Co., which supplies electric power to the Reynolds plant, said today that Reynolds could have reduced its unit power cost by more than one mill by operating the plant at capacity.

Ritchie said Reynolds pays 5.5 mills per kilowatt hour when it uses 90 million kilowatts hours a month and only 4.04 mills per kilowatt when it uses 90 million KWH a month.

Ritchie added that Reynolds actually buys its power from the federal Southwest Power Administration and AP&L is only a transporting agency.

Fletcher said Reynolds officials had told him they would be willing to close a plant in another state if they could get cheaper power for the Arkansas plant.

"I'm not blaming anyone for this plant closing," Fletcher said. "It's an economic matter. I think as power costs go up in other areas, we will become competitive again with our energy rate costs."

No Hope for Men in Navy Crash

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (AP)—Hope was abandoned today for all nine men aboard a U.S. Navy bomber after several bodies were recovered near wreckage of the aircraft 17 miles off the southeast tip of Newfoundland.

The P2V Neptune crashed in clear weather Wednesday while taking part in a fleet exercise off Cape Race.

The freighter American Clipper picked up two bodies after finding a wing tank and the tail section of the plane.

The Neptune, normally based at Brunswick, Maine, took off from Argentia, Nfld.

FBI Says Reds Planning U. S. Youth Group

By CHARLES C. HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today that "at this very moment, the Communists are completing final arrangements for a conference to be held in Chicago beginning Dec. 31 . . . to formulate plans for a new national youth organization."

The Communist party, U.S.A., remains the largest subversive organization in the United States, Hoover said in a year-end report on FBI activities to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Hoover did not elaborate on his announcement about the Chicago meeting, but an FBI spokesman said there were indications the session would draw a substantial attendance of representatives from various areas of the Communist party. He declined to give other information on the meeting.

Hoover said that under the leadership of Moscow-trained Gus Hall the U. S. Communist party has strengthened ties with the Soviet Union and with Communists in Cuba and elsewhere.

The new national youth organization, Hoover said, "will be clandestinely directed by party members." He said the U. S. party has started a new publication, New Horizons for Youth, under editorial direction of its national youth director, identified by the FBI as Daniel Rubin of New York.

"In addition," Hoover said, "the Communists hope to repeat the success which they achieved on the West Coast last May in spearheading mob demonstrations by college students and other young people against a committee of Congress."

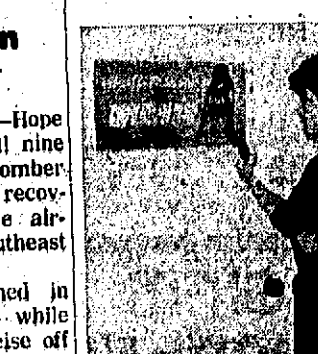

This referred to a demonstration in San Francisco at a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Hoover's claim that demonstrators were leader by Communists, echoed by committee Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., was denied by a group of students involved.

Riot charges against 2 of the student demonstrators were dismissed by Municipal Judge Albert A. Axelrod, who said they were merely trying to protest what they believed to be an undemocratic hearing. Axelrod added, "I am convinced they were not engaged in subversive activity."

In his report to Rogers, Hoover said the FBI's activities in 1960 were highlighted by actions

Heads Youth Drive for Polio Funds

Millie Jean Flowers

"A teenager may be too young to vote — or get gray hair — or collect Social Security. But no one is too young to become sick or crippled."

"I have accepted chairmanship of the Teenage Program of the 1961 New March of Dimes during January in Hempstead County," Millie Jean Flowers said today.

"Because I think that's the best way to help prevent crippling diseases."

Millie's appointment was announced by Mrs. Laura Mae Impson, campaign director.

"We teenagers plan to work out a complete fund-raising program to help the March of Dimes get the money it needs for its program of patient aid, research and education in the fields of birth defects, arthritis and polio," Millie, a student at Hope High explained.

"One of our main interests in The National Foundation's scholarship program to train high school and college students in nursing, medicine, medical and social work, occupational therapy and physical therapy," she pointed out.

The National Foundation offers more than 500 new scholarships each year, each worth $500 annually, she added.

Welfare Business Is About Same

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Records of the state Unemployment Security Division and the Welfare Department for November show business about the same as for that month last year.

The records were checked after Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday that Arkansas is in a recession.

The ESD received 11,550 non-agricultural job applications last month and placed 5,638 persons. It got 11,583 applications in November, 1959, and placed 5,880.

The Welfare Department had 71,899 clients last month, 13 less than 12 months before.

Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams said applications for surplus commodities are "rising pretty rapidly" but he attributed this in part to seasonal factors.

Inspector Cites Need of Manpower

NEW YORK (AP)—The senior safety inspector aboard the ill-fated Constellation testified today his greatest problem in "getting things corrected was lack of manpower."

Robert J. McCartney, the inspector, also told a Court of Inquiry that "we were stymied to a certain extent by lack of funds," although ship superintendents complied with his safety recommendations "with few exceptions."

The court probing the Monday fire that killed 49 men aboard the huge aircraft carrier did not press him concerning what the lack of manpower and money prevented him from doing. He did not say what the exceptions to his recommendations were.

McCartney said that he was installing a portable loud speaking system when he noticed oil flowing down the deck. The Navy has said fuel from a ruptured fuel tank ignited and started the 575 million fire aboard the vessel under construction.

McCartney said that after the oil appeared he followed instructions and 10 to 12 times announced over the system that no burning, smoking or welding would be permitted.

Flames appeared shortly afterward and McCartney said he again followed instructions and announced an order to abandon ship.

He doubted his announcements were heard on decks other than the one he was on, the hangar or main deck.

Both Admit to Sex Relations

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dennis Crosby and divorcee Marilyn Miller Scott agree they were intimate, but he says he seriously doubts he fathered her 3-year-old daughter. Crosby says the intimacies were under alcoholic circumstances on his part.

Twice they were intimate, Mrs. Scott testified Wednesday, between outbursts of tears, in her paternity suit against the 26-year-old twin, one of crooner Bing Crosby's four singing sons.

"I was in love with him," the tall, 28-year-old brunette told the jury. She is asking that the jurors declare Dennis Michael Crosby the father of her daughter Denise Michelle.

Dennis entered a formal denial of paternity and said his doubts are based on what he called Mrs. Scott's "bad morals."

"She has been seen out late in this type of bars, and I have heard rumors that I wasn't the one," he told the jury of nine married women and three married men.

Bloodshed, Panic in Bus Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—A bus loaded with Christmas shoppers was the scene of panic and bloodshed Wednesday night in a wild gunfight between two passengers. Six persons were wounded, one critically.

T. Lee said the battle apparently stemmed from a sudden quarrel near the exit to the crowded bus on the city's west side.

Police gave this account: One man, complaining he was jostled by three others as he moved toward the exit, drew a pistol and threatened: "Either you get out my way or I'll blast you in the mouth." He then opened fire.

One of the men blocking the exit fired back. About a dozen shots raked the rear of the bus. In the melee, the man police said fired first fled after pulling an emergency exit lever. The other gunman, identified as Thurston Burgess, 22, was listed in serious condition at a hospital.

Luther Perkins, 19, one of the five passengers hit by bullets, was reported in critical condition. Two others, Otis Perch, 29, and Ernestine Russell, 16, were reported seriously wounded. Two others were less seriously hurt.

The gunmen and the wounded are Negroes.

Cars Damaged in Accident Here

Automobiles driven by R. D. Taylor and Mrs. Sally Andrews collided Thursday morning at Avenue B and North Hazel Street with damage to both cars. The Taylor car had a crumpled fender and the Andrews car had headlight and grill damage. City Officers Sinyard and Pedron investigated.

Native of Ozan Dies at Benton

Mrs. Bess Barrow Hughes of Benton, wife of attorney John L. Hughes, died Wednesday at her home. She was born at Ozan and was a member of the First Methodist Church, was president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. O. W. Davenport of Miami, Fla. and a sister, Mrs. Dudley Lanck of Las Vegas.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

The weather has been pretty much in the news the past few days with 17 degrees on Tuesday night . . . and it snowed a little this morning bringing hopes to some and dismay to others . . . light snow covered some areas in Arkansas and the forecast is for more during the day.

The City electrical crews have the new overhead vapor lights ready to go and a preliminary test was made last night . . . those who saw them thought they were wonderful . . . a formal affair has been planned for the actual conversion to the new system.

Dale Dunn says he has a few tickets to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas if anybody wants them.

Commissioned a Marine Second Lt. upon graduation recently from the 12-week Officers Candidate Course at Quantico, Va., was Howard D. Coffield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coffield of Emmet and the husband of the former Mary L. Perrin of Batesville.

He is a graduate of Arkansas College at Batesville and is now attending the 26-week basic school required of all newly commissioned officers in the Marines.

Light Snow in Sections of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow covered the ground at scattered Arkansas points today and more snow flurries were forecast for this second day of winter.

The thermometer plunged to a season's low of 3 degrees at Gilbert early today and it was biting cold in all sections of the state.

Paragould had an unofficial low of 4 degrees, Walnut Ridge 7 and Elkins 8. The minimums ranged up to 20 degrees at Texarkana.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said winter arrived officially at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Most of the snow was in north-west Arkansas, but Arkadelphia reported flurries, starting about 6 a. m. and fairly brisk snow beginning around 9 a. m.

Fayetteville had about one-quarter inch on the ground at dawn and it had quit snowing there.

Temperatures were not expected to get much above freezing today. A high of 20-25 in the northeast and 25-35 elsewhere was predicted. Tonight's lows were forecast at 10 degrees in the northeast to 24 in southern sections.

The state Highway Department reported that all roads are open.

"There are scattered slick spots, but these have been salted and sanded, along with all icy spots on bridges," a department spokesman said.

Missile Bases Contracted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $28,695,155 contract for the first phase of construction of a Titan II missile complex has been awarded to Midland Constructors of Columbus, Ga. Midland plans to open an office at Conway after Christmas.

Midland, a combine of four Southern construction concerns, was given the contract Wednesday by Army Engineers.

The firm's bid Tuesday was the smallest of six received for initial work on 12 underground launching silos to be built in a semi-circle north of the Little Rock Air Force Base.

Army Engineers said they did not know how many workmen Midland would hire locally. Engineers previously estimated that the peak construction force would number about 1,000.

Fiberglass Plant for Little Rock

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pressed-fiberglass for mirror backing and furniture drawer bottoms will be manufactured at a plant to be operated here by a company headed by James N. Kohler Jr. president of Kohler-John Corp. of Sheboygan, Wis.

It was announced Wednesday that the firm, Little Rock Fiberglass, Inc., will begin production in a $1.3 million plant built three years ago to manufacture a product called Fiberglass. Chamber of Commerce officials said that plant never got into production.

No purchase price for the facility was disclosed, but Chamber of Commerce officials said Kohler paid cash.

About 50 persons will be employed at the plant, which will have a $250,000 annual payroll.

Some of Crew Rescued From Broken Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Helicopters from the Navy's aircraft carrier Valley Forge today plucked eight crewmen from the stern section of the broken American tanker Pine Ridge.

Twenty other survivors of Wednesday's breakup of the 10,417-ton ship 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C., were reported safe and in no immediate danger aboard the floating afterpart of the vessel.

The Navy at Washington released the names of the rescued men and said the Valley Forge reported rescue operations were continuing. Earlier, however, Atlantic Fleet headquarters here, announced the pickup of four men, including an injured crewman, and said the operation had been suspended temporarily because of the hazard.

Aircraft and surface ships searched the area for five men spilled into the sea when the Pine Ridge broke her back in mountainous seas. The Valley Forge said no survivors were found in the water.

The first man removed from the 175-foot long stern section was Everett Bell, Jacksonville, Fla. The Navy reported he suffered "severe lacerations of the right upper arm but his condition is good." Bell was the third assistant engineer.

The Navy listed the other men rescued as fireman Bonnevill Pratt, New York City; oiler James C. Lewis, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Chester Reed, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Robert George Gill, Monterey, Mexico; Frank Albert Borel, Port Arthur, Tex.; J. H. Hulsey, Corpus Christi, Tex.; and Jacinto S. Dasilva, a Portuguese.

The Valley Forge reported to the Navy Department that possibly five other men had been picked up by helicopters but not yet ferried to the carrier.

The Valley Forge was seen through surging seas to the west from off the coast of Florida, a distance of more than 200 miles. Her first helicopter was launched at 6:45 a. m. today, piloted by Comdr. Robert L. Close of Cincinnati, Ohio. He spotted no survivors in the water and then began the ticklish business of picking survivors off the floating stern.

The Coast Guard cutter Cirilla reported the stern and capsize how the Pine Ridge now had drifted about 30 miles apart.

The cutter said the bow constituted a serious menace to navigation, had no lights, constituted a poor radar target and recommended a ship be assigned to stand by the wreckage.

Two commercial tugs, one from New York and one from Norfolk, were en route to the scene to salvage both sections of the tanker.

The Pine Ridge, carrying a crew of 39, was traveling in ballast without a cargo from New York to Corpus Christi, Tex.

Waves, whipped by 50-60 knot winds, were running as high as 30 feet and hampered early rescue efforts. Today the waves were reported at 16 feet with winds of

Man Sentenced for Auto Theft

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley has sentenced Lloyd George Deppie to a three-year prison term on auto theft charges.

Deppie, 40, was arrested Nov. 16 after two clerks at a Des Moines sporting goods store recognized him from a picture on an FBI poster. He was accused of stealing cars at Kansas City, Jackson, Miss., and Lake Charles, La.

Deppie pleaded guilty.

At the time of his arrest, Deppie was on parole from a federal prison at Sandstone, Minn., where he was serving a four-year sentence for auto theft.

At one time Deppie was believed a traveling companion of Robert William Schultz, formerly on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives. Schultz was taken into custody at Orlando, Fla., in early November.

Porkers, Texas Win Aluminum Bowl Games
By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas and Texas weren't spectacular Wednesday night, but they managed enough basketball and get enough breaks to score a first-round sweep over Southeastern Conference opposition in the first Aluminum Bowl basketball classic.

The Razorbacks trimmed Alabama 83-76 chiefly on the guard-work of Jerry Carlton and Pat Foster. Texas used its height and outside accuracy in the second half to edge run-and-shoot Tennessee, 77-73.

Tonight, Aluminum Bowl officials expect improved showings from the two highly-rated Southwest Conference fives as they swap SEC opponents. Texas takes on Alabama and Arkansas faces Tennessee.

Ideally, Arkansas and Texas would meet tonight for the Aluminum Bowl championship, but the coaches don't want to play teams they'll face later in conference competition. That's why the classic is not a tournament.

The classic's first-night star was Arkansas' Carlton, a 6-1 junior floor wizard from Sheridan, who scored 29 points in leading the Hogs over Alabama.

Carlton hit consistently from the outside and added a sharp driving punch that kept the Razorbacks five to 10 points ahead throughout the game. He was aided by Foster, who scored 22 points.

Texas was paced by 6-8 Al Almanza, who scored 19 points and grabbed 14 rebounds, and Donnie Lasiter, a 5-11 guard who scored 15 points, most of them on long jump shots.

In the first half of its game, Tennessee made the best showing of the four. The Vols divided their scoring five ways and worked the fast break perfectly in racing to a 22-9 lead. But late in the first half, the Vols' shooting percentage fell off and Almanza began pushing his way under the boards to grab rebounds.

Texas got stronger after the intermission and Tennessee never regained its early game lead. But the Vols closed the gap late as Almanza and 6-8 Jimmy Brown fouled out of the Texas lineup.

Bobby Carter scored 17 points for Tennessee and Dick Fisher netted 15. The Vols hit 43 per cent of their floor shots to 39 per cent for Texas, and outrebounded the Longhorns 50-42.

Arkansas had little trouble with Alabama. The Razorbacks led all the way and the Tide narrowed the margin near the end with a full-court press.

Henry Hoskins paced Alabama with 22 points and Larry Pennington netted 21. Ronnie Garner got 15 for Arkansas and 5-9 Darrell Estes got 14 for Alabama.

Arkansas hit 49 per cent to 49.1 per cent for the Crimson Tide but the Hogs got 66 shots to 55 for Alabama.

Arkansas Coach Glen Rose has paid a high compliment to his fine guard, Clyde Rhoden. "He may not make a lot in exhibition games," Rose said, "he saves them for when the score is 54 to 53." So he does. Rhoden is a great clutch player; he reminds you of Arkansas' football All-America Jim Mowdy who never let the Hogs down in a pinch.

Rhoden got in about 20 minutes of action Wednesday night and his

Some of Crew

20 knots, still a hindrance to rescuers.

Shortly after midnight the Coast Guard cutter Androscoogin, coordinating vessel of the Coast Guard team, at the scene, reported: "No survivors picked up yet."

At that time, more than 10 ships—headed by the aircraft carrier Valley Forge—carried out search patterns in the hunt for crewmen who might have been tossed into the water.

The Valley Forge, which arrived on the scene shortly after midnight with its screen of destroyers, prepared to send out six helicopters at dawn. Their mission was two-fold: to look for crewmen tossed overboard and to pick up those still clinging to pieces of the shattered ship.

Coast Guard planes from Elizabeth City, N. C., counted 10 crewmen on the stern section, and the Coast Guard said there might be more. The planes also spotted five others—three in a life raft—drifting away from the spot amid debris two miles south-southwest of the bow section.

Life rafts and life jackets for more than 50 men were dropped.

New Cabinet Indicates Much Action

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy has picked a 10-man Cabinet in his own image: It's conservative-liberal and hard-driving. Therefore, a lot of action can be expected from the new administration.

The incoming Cabinet differs from President Eisenhower's first Cabinet of 1953 in two obvious ways: Eisenhower's was much more conservative, and Kennedy's is far more scholarly.

While action can be expected from the new administration, it does not—judging from the records of Kennedy himself and his hand-picked top 10 men—figure to be of the startling kind.

There is a basic difference between the Kennedy administration and Eisenhower's: The new one is already committed to having the government take a stronger hand in American life than Eisenhower favored.

For example, the five-point plan on which Kennedy Tuesday said he will seek quick congressional action: federal aid to education, raising the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25, a program for medical care for the aged tied to Social Security, expansion of federal aid to housing, and help for depressed areas.

None of the five points is new or startling. Kennedy promised them all in his campaign. All would put the fingers of the government deeper into American life.

Some may not like the thought of this, but those fingers have been going deeper year by year as the

but the pilot of one of the planes told of a futile effort to lead the Norwegian tanker Artemis to the five men afloat in water reported warm enough at 74 degrees for survival if they weren't swamped.

It was the Artemis which touched off the latest battle of man against the elements with the terse report Wednesday: it had sighted the Pine Ridge, a T2 tanker, broken in half in a severe gale and mountainous seas 100 miles off the North Atlantic coast.

"Impossible to render any assistance under present weather conditions," the master of the Artemis radioed The Associated Press in response to an inquiry. Biting winds of up to 50 and 60 miles an hour, planes and surface craft began heading for the scene. The tanker Esso James-town arrived shortly after 5 p. m. and sent back the word that those aboard the stern were okay.

The Bailes family will say farewell Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. at the Gospel Lighthouse, Avenue C and Anders Street. Walter and Frankie Bailes have been working with the Rev. Lacie Rowe since August and helped to establish the Gospel Request hour featured over the local radio station. The public is invited to hear their farewell songs and sermons.

Arkansas Girl Asks Help of N. Y. Police

By LAMAR FALKNER

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is a real Santa Claus, a little farm girl from the Arkansas Ozarks is out to find him. She has enlisted the aid of the New York City cops.

Coleta Burns, 11, has decided Santa either doesn't know where she lives, or he's dead. He hasn't called on her in a long time.

"Is there a real Santa in New York?" Coleta wrote in a letter to the Police Department. "You see, if there is a real Santa, he doesn't know where we live. I thought I would write a letter to him, and if he doesn't come this time, I know he must be dead."

"You know," she went on chattily, "he hasn't been to our house for a long time. He must have been dead for a lot of years. If he is live, I hope you will read this letter to him."

Then Coleta systematically listed the things her family needs

American society becomes more complex and interdependent.

There is an explanation why the Kennedy Cabinet should be conservative-liberal instead of exclusively liberal or wholly conservative. This is not a time of acute distress, requiring extreme and sudden remedies as was the case with President Roosevelt's early New Deal when innovations were needed to cope with the depression and bring America up to date.

Kennedy, like Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is both conservative and liberal. He would hardly pick a Cabinet which reflected anything but his own views. Eisenhower's Cabinet represented his own conservative thinking.

None of Kennedy's Cabinet has unusual national stature, such as Adlai E. Stevenson has. Thus Kennedy, who never left any doubt in the campaign he would be the boss, figures to be dominant in his administration or in any disagreement with a Cabinet member.

It is perhaps significant he put Stevenson in a secondary role as American ambassador to the United Nations. Stevenson, with a large following here and abroad and aware of it, might have created a national problem for the new president if the two men disagreed.

None of the 10 Cabinet members—including Kennedy's brother, Robert, the new attorney general—has been a very controversial figure. With the exception of Robert Kennedy, who sometimes gets fiery, the Cabinet members have a pretty subdued public record.

The reason for that appears to be this: All of them, whether their experience was in government or business or politics, have been managers trying to get things done. Therefore, starting out the Christmas Day. If not, please be Kennedy administration should be able to run smoothly.

against Soviet espionage, as well as with important criminal arrests for kidnappings and other major crimes.

"During this period of grave international tension, America cannot afford to relax her internal defenses even momentarily," Hoover said.

"FBI investigators during 1960 disclosed that an alarming number of Soviet and satellite diplomatic personnel have intelligence assignments in this country."

He noted last summer two secretaries in the Soviet Embassy here were declared persona non grata and that two persons were arrested in October and another in November on spy charges.

"I have a little brother and sister. . . . They want a little car that they can ride in."

"I sure hope you are still live, for I hope we can have Christmas at our house this year."

Coleta added that she lives "five miles southwest of Viola, Ark."

"If Santa is dead," she concluded, "will you write and tell me?"

Viola is a town of 10 persons, nestled in the foothills of the Ozarks. Wednesday night most of the town was in church singing Christmas carols. School Supt. Max Harber was there, and he said, sure, he knows Coleta.

"She's in the sixth grade," he said, "and she makes mostly A's and B's. Her family's not very well off, but they're good people, well thought of."

Coleta's letter was turned over to the Police Athletic League, which plays Santa to many New York kids, and deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm answered the child's letter promptly.

"I am sure there is a real Santa," wrote Arm, "not only in New York but everywhere."

"However, he has been very busy and, somehow, he must have overlooked you and your brothers and sisters. . . ."

"I hope he gets to Viola by done. Therefore, starting out the Christmas Day. If not, please be Kennedy administration should be able to run smoothly."

ROXANNE'S Home Made Sausage, whole hog and pure pork, is made right here in Hope. This exclusive recipe for Home Made Sausage, has been in the Lawrence family for over 100 years.

The Pig Parlor type of hog raising is new and modern and has proved to be the best way to produce the finest pork. The cleanliness of total confinement hog raising practically eliminates the disease and parasite problems that always plague top quality pork production. Our hogs are bred, farrowed and fed right here in Hempstead County under complete sanitary conditions which includes concrete floors for farrowing pens and pig parlor.

ROXANNE'S Home Made Sausage is processed and packed in Roxie's Sausage Kitchen by Roxie and Ray Lawrence.

Huntley News Story Really Wasn't News

Television in Review
By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maybe the name of the "NBC white paper" series should be changed to "NBC Power Loom."

In its two offerings thus far, the public affairs series has shown an admirable talent for weaving the warp and woof of rough, sprawling news stories into tight, dramatic, smooth-faced fabrics. First came "The U2 Affair."

On Tuesday night, it was "Sit-In," the story of non-violent, direct action by Negro students against lunch counter segregation in Nashville, Tenn., including the support, opposition and results it engendered.

Fresh interviews with the sit-in leaders, their friends and foes, were interwoven with newsreel film of the sit-in operation in action, complete with violent scenes that were touched off in some instances. This technique was the most inventive and striking aspect of the program. As we watched the youngsters in action, passions flowing at full pitch during the sit-ins, we also met them as they now appear, in calmer moments. And they commented on their thoughts and actions as we watched the older newsreel clips with them.

"Sit-In," written and produced by Al Wasserman, directed by Robert Young, was effectively put together. Solidly conceived touches included watching people as they discussed the situation around a card table, in a college gym, or in a barber shop. Many facets of the story that were not previously publicized were brought out.

However, since the broad-strokes of the story have been shown on TV before, the mere assembling of a chronological account failed to accommodate the informational values that were contained in the U2 story, which was, to begin with, more chaotic and confusing.

Near the close of Tuesday night's program, narrator Chel H. nley spoke of the turning point in the Nashville story, after a Negro leader's home had been dynamited and thousands of Negroes joined to march on City Hall to confront Mayor Ben West. Said Huntley, "... Soon afterward, a committee of merchants and students met and worked out a plan for desegregating the six lunch counters that had been sit-in targets. The economic boycott was withdrawn and Nashville became the first major city in the South to permit whites and Negroes to eat together in public places."

The development deserved more attention.

"Thriller" went in for off-beat casting Tuesday night and took an off-cast beating. Mort Sahl, a tremendous talent as a comedian, or, went dramatic in a mystery called "Man in the Middle." He worked as if he had studied acting at Gardner McKay's classroom. I hope the experience provided Sahl with good material for his next record album — just so the workout shouldn't be a total loss.

The Channel Swim: "The Nation's Future" for New Year's Eve on NBC-TV, originally planned as a high-level discussion about comedy between Sahl and Alan King, will be between Sahl and Steve Allen instead. Sahl asked for the change. King has called the switch "a gross insult."

When "The Asphalt Jungle" debuts on ABC-TV Sunday, April 16, the regular stars will be Jack Warden, Arch Johnson and Douglas Odney. Duke Ellington contributed the background music. Agnes Moorehead who guest stars as a 15-year-old bounty

Stewardess Out of Hospital

MILLBRAE, Calif. (AP) — The American Airlines stewardess who was mistakenly believed dead last month after a freeway traffic collision, was released from Peninsula Hospital Tuesday. She returned to her home in New York.

The stewardess, Mary Hawthorne, was reported dead and Joan Frost, 26, of Philadelphia was listed as a survivor. When the body believed to be that of Miss Hawthorne was returned to New York for burial, it was found to be that of Miss Frost.

Redistricting Problem of Legislature

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles on legislation expected to come before the 1961 Arkansas Legislature.)

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—When Arkansas' 3rd General Assembly convenes Jan. 9, the state's 135 legislators will be faced by the problem of dividing Arkansas into four congressional districts instead of six.

It is a problem the lawmakers themselves feel will be the most important issue of the session. There may be, roughly, 135 different ideas on how it should be handled. The political maneuvering which may accompany it could last the entire session.

The talk will be about proper representation, homogeneity of geographical areas and mutual economic and political interest.

But the simple fact is that at least two of six incumbent congressmen will lose their jobs in 1962 elections.

In most cases, the individual legislator will be working for a redistricting plan which will make it easiest for his own congressman to get reelected.

Glenn F. Walther, veteran Pulaski County representative, perhaps summed up the general feeling. "If we accomplish redistricting in this session, it will be a hot controversy," Walther said. "But I do not think it is of vital importance to the rank and file of the people of the state."

Arkansas' redistricting problem is heightened because it has five congressmen of long experience. There will have been in the House 24 years when the 192 elections arrive. One will have 22 years service and another 16.

To a congressman, redistricting is a personal matter. It could easily be a question of his job. Each wants to keep as many counties of his present district as possible, regardless of how the counties are rearranged. Each dreads having to campaign in new territory, possibly against the man who has represented that area for two decades.

The congressmen whose futures are so inextricably linked to redistricting are:

First District: E. C. Gathings of West Memphis, 57, took office in 1939.

Second District: Wilbur D. Mills of Kensett, 51, took office in 1939.

Third District: James W. Trimble of Berryville, office in 1945.

Fourth District: Oren Harris, 65, of El Dorado, took office in 1941.

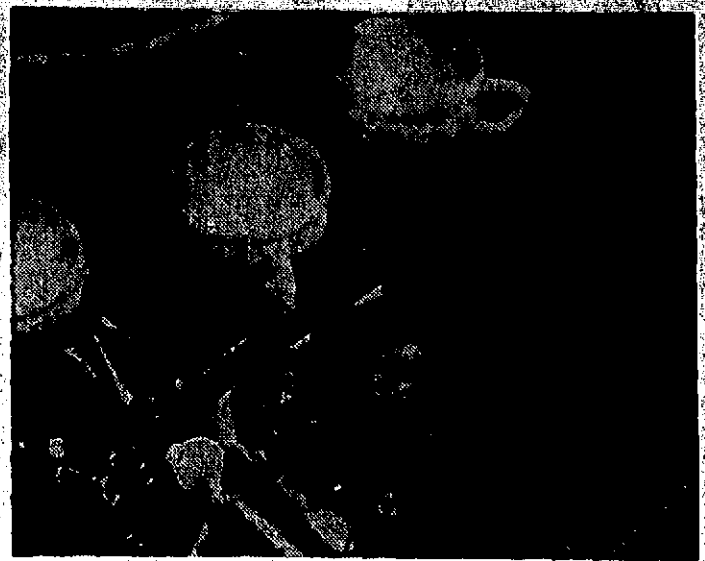

Dale Alford, 44, of Little Rock, took office in 1950.

W. F. Norrell, 64, of Monticello, took office in 1939.

Gathings, Mills, Harris and Norrell were reelected without opposition this year. Trimble disposed of his only opponent easily. Alford, the newcomer, beat an in-hunter on ABC-TV's "Rifleman" for Tuesday, Dec. 27, has signed to star in the Friday, Jan. 20 episode of CBS-TV's "Twilight Zone."

Traditional Flavor, Quick Mixing— Easy Holiday Fruitcake

Fruitcake—moist, rich, deliciously chewy—is Christmas time almost anything. It's as sure a sign of the season as holly and fir trees and a mailbox full of cards. And this year, for the first time, the traditional Christmas fruitcake is actually convenient to make—with Pillsbury's brand-new Date Bread Mix, at your grocer's just in time for holiday baking. So easy to stir that an electric mixer isn't necessary, Date Bread has a dark, not-too-sweet base, is full of candied fruit, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts and 1/4 cup raisins—turn it into a fruitcake you'll be proud to give or serve. A satisfying accompaniment for coffee after caroling or punch at a tree-trimming. When you pass the festive bowl this Christmas, pass the fruitcake, too!

Serve a Salad "Tree"!

EVEN A SALAD CAN BE CHRISTMAS SPIRITED... and this delectable cheese and coconut-covered fresh pear demonstrates that fact. For extra party atmosphere, serve it on one of those sparkly plastic plates.

You may want to vary this recipe a bit, by tinting the cream cheese a light green, then decorating the covered pear with small colored candies, and pressing untinted flaked coconut atop so that the candies shine thru—a charming effect for the holidays.

CHRISTMAS TREE DESSERT

2 packages (6 ounces) cream cheese

1/2 cup maple-blended syrup

4 ripe pears (Comice, Anjou, Bosc)

Baker's Angel Flake Coconut

Green food coloring

Small colored candies

Cream the cheese until soft and fluffy. Add syrup gradually, beating well after each addition until smooth. Peel pears and remove stems. Spread cream, cheese mixture over surfaces of pears.

Combine coconut and few drops green food coloring; toss with fork until coconut is tinted throughout. Roll pears in coconut and place on serving plate. Then stick gold paper stars on end of toothpicks and insert in stem ends of pears. Decorate with silver dragage and small colored candies to simulate Christmas tree ornaments. Serve surrounded with snowy flaked coconut. Makes 4 servings.

Cox Is Appointed Acting Engineer

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Capt. C. J. Cox was appointed acting district engineer for the Vicksburg District of Army Engineers Tuesday.

The appointment followed the recent death of Col. James E. Walsh, district engineer.

Cox, a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, was a deputy under Walsh.

Army Draft Quota for February

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today issued a draft call for 6,000 men in February.

This is the same quota previously announced for January and compares with 8,000 to 7,000, respectively, in November and December this year.

The new call brings to 2,595,930 the total number drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of Selective Service in September 1950.

Fire Destroys Cabot Gym

CABOT, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed the Cabot High School gymnasium this morning.

Supt. George M. Hickey estimated loss at $40,000, including equipment.

The fire was discovered about 5 a.m. The building was already in flames when Cabot, Beebe and Jacksonville firemen arrived. The firemen were handicapped by the sub-freezing weather.

A nearby wooden agriculture building was damaged slightly by smoke and water.

Origin of the fire was not determined.

The wood and brick gymnasium was built 10 years ago.

Loss of the building will not interfere with class schedules, Hickey said.

calling a special session to handle it after regular business is concluded.

It is doubtful, with several redistricting plans already prepared for submission, that a delay could be accomplished. Even if it were, the prospective special session and its problem would affect the regular session.

Pilot Union Blasts Wreck Statements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Airline Pilots Association today accused the Federal Aviation Administrator of "irresponsible abuse of public office" for his public statements about last week's airliner collision over New York City.

E. R. Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, was criticized in a statement issued by Clarence N. Sayen, president of ALPA, a pilots union.

Sayen said Quesada's statements Monday after the administrator briefed President Eisenhower on the tragedy were "irregular and improper."

Quesada said the United Air Lines DC8 jet which was involved was 11 miles off course at the time of the collision.

The jet and a Trans World Airlines Constellation smashed together over Staten Island last Friday. The accident claimed 135 lives.

The union president added: "Certain tentative facts have emerged but have not been verified in relation to other facts and the over-all problem. To issue statements at this time which even infer that certain events led to this accident is sheer speculation."

Sayen said that for an agency involved in an accident investigation to engage in public speculation before the end of an inquiry "is to mislead the public and indict innocent parties."

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, also took Quesada to task in a statement Tuesday in Chicago.

"We have always considered it out of order to make public statements until all the facts are known," Patterson said.

Sayen said that in view of the Federal Aviation Agency's involvement in the matter, "the administrator's statements must be viewed as an irresponsible abuse of public office, and it is hoped that the practice will be immediately terminated."

The FFA installs and operates navigation, communications and air traffic control facilities and establishes rules under which airliner flights are operated.

The various statements that have been made have advanced three possible causes for the New York disaster:

Minute Maid and Coca Cola Merge

NEW YORK (AP)—Stockholders of Minute Maid Corp. today overwhelmingly approved merger of the firm into the Coca-Cola Co.

Of 1,667,558 shares represented at a special meeting, 1,660,352 or 99.6 per cent voted in favor of the plan. A total of 1,994,326 shares are outstanding.

Coca-Cola stockholders will vote on the plan Thursday at another special meeting in Wilmington, Del. If it is approved as generally expected, the consolidation would become effective Dec. 30.

State Drill Team to Inaugural

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—The 36-member military drill team from Arkansas State College will provide a color guard in the Presidential inaugural parade in Washington Jan. 20, school officials announced today.

The drill team, known as the "White Hats" will join members of the school's marching band to represent the state.

Uprising Squelched in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A brief uprising aimed at freeing imprisoned officials of the deposed Perez Jimenez dictatorship was squelched today by forces loyal to President Romulo Betancourt.

One of the rebels was wounded in a 50-minute gunbattle with government troops. The insurgents, led by a naval lieutenant officially described as a deserter with a record of subversive activities surrendered after the battle.

Two Light Planes Collide in Air

HAMILTON, Mont. (AP)—Two light planes flying opposite courses collided in overcast weather southwest of here Tuesday, killing all three occupants.

The victims were Robert Ryman, 37, owner of a flying service here; his wife, Donna, about 30, and Norman C. Ray, about 45.

"Trim and Treat"

Santa's Boot Centerpiece

Trimings now! Treats later! That's what this delightful "Santa's Boot Centerpiece" will provide for your Christmas festivities. The boot is an easy-does-it made of alternating layers of whole graham crackers and lemon pie filling, with a topping of cream cheese tinted red with food coloring. Here's how:

Santa's Boot Centerpiece
20 3-section Sunshine Graham Crackers
1/2 cup sugar
2 slightly beaten egg yolks
2 cups milk
1 package lemon pie filling
4 3-oz. packages cream cheese
1/2 teaspoon red food coloring
Sunshine Assorted Cookies
Holly sprig

Arrange four of the 3-section Graham Crackers in a row down a large serving platter, making an oblong 10 1/2" x 4" for the leg of the boot. Place one 3-section cracker against crackers at lower side of one edge to form toe of boot. In a small saucepan combine sugar, egg yolks, milk and pie filling. Cook over low heat as package directs. Cool. Spread one third of the filling over the layer of graham crackers. Cover with five more crackers. Spread these with second third of the filling. Repeat. Top last layer of filling with the five remaining crackers. Chill 1/2 hour or until firm. Meanwhile, blend three of the packages of cream cheese with the red food coloring, adding a little milk if necessary to make mixture of easy spreading consistency. Spread top and sides of boot with pink cream cheese, rounding edges. Beat uncolored cream cheese and frost top of boot to resemble wool trim. Chill at least 1 hour to mellow flavors. Arrange assorted cookies on platter at top of boot, and decorate with evergreen sprigs. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Turkey Costs Little Less This Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The traditional Christmas turkey carried to your dinner table should cost a few cents less than it did last year.

If you're among those whose Christmas tradition calls for ham instead, you'll have to pay more.

Both cases illustrate the time-tested, not to say traditional law of supply and demand. Stocks of turkeys are up markedly over a year ago, while the spring pig crop now reaching market was off 16 per cent from 1959.

Although prices vary, turkeys at one chain's New York metropolitan area outlets cost 39 cents a pound for 18 pounds-plus birds and 47.8 cents for those under 18 pounds. A year ago they carried the flat price of 47 cents for 8 to 24 pound birds. Ham, however, runs from 39 to 57 cents a pound, depending on type of cut, compared with a 1959 range of 29 to 47 cents a pound.

The turkey prices are somewhat above 1958, ham about the same.

One Christmas staple that's likely to cost more is egg nog, thanks to egg prices running anywhere from 12 to 20 cents a dozen above last year's below-average levels.

Olives are more plentiful than a year ago and dates about the same as 1959.

Housewives searching for vegetable bargains will find outstanding buys among cabbage, nearby carrots (where they're still available), all types of celery, eggplant, green onions, maine, and long potatoes, yellow onions, several varieties of sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas and bunched radishes.

While boiler onions are fairly expensive along with artichokes, cauliflower, parsley, peppers, green peas, summer-type squash, tomatoes and bunched carrots.

Cranberries remain an outstanding buy as the bumper crop continues pouring into market. California oranges also rate the best buy tag, produce men say, while good buys include apples, limes, grapefruit, pears and grapes.

Navy Bomber Crashes in Sea

'Sit-in' Has Earmarks of Rigged Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sit-In," the second of NBC's excursions into strongly editorial broadcasting in a series called "NBC White Paper," Tuesday night proved to be a powerful and sympathetic account of the Negro lunch-counter demonstrations in Nashville, Tenn.

It told clearly and graphically the story of the successful efforts by young Negro students to force local stores to serve Negroes food. It included film shot during scuffles between blacks and whites and filmed interviews with leaders of both factions and community officials. Often the camera work was imaginative and shockingly effective, and the earnest marked with a religious flavor, statements of the Negroes, were moving.

Sometimes, however, the scenes—such as the one in which a group of young Negroes were gathered in a gymnasium singing and talking—looked rigged and showed signs of careful stage management.

The principal difficulty with the program was in its failure to give the other side as fair a break as it provided for the pro-integration forces. The camera went back and back again to a young tough who described with brutal relish his own part in attacking the sit-in sympathizers to a white housewife and to a local businessman whose anti-integration stances were not convincing to this reviewer. Surely, these people were as carefully selected by the producers of the program as were the sensitive-faced and articulate young Negroes and whites.

NBC has decided not to show, after all, the first of its Civil War Centennial specials on Dec. 27. An original drama about the Battle of Bull Run called "The Renegade" was scheduled, but now the network plans to get more mileage out of Tony Webster's spoof of psychiatry, "After Hours." This mild little number originally was shown last season on the network's ill-fated "Sunday Showcase" series. The probable reason for the switch is lack of a sponsor.

NBC's gasoline sponsor which put up more than one million dollars for a series of spur-of-the-moment news specials on breaking stories will make its initial network plunge with something quite different: the network's long planned "Projection '61" round-table chat of its correspondents on Dec. 30. That means that the networks star broadcasting team, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, are out of the show—their regular nightly sponsor is a rival gasoline company—and Frank McGee will moderate the discussion group.

Recommended tonight: "The Coming of Christ," NBC, 8:30-9 p. m. EST. A project 20 special telling the familiar story through art masterpieces.

Pro-Castro Priest Seeks Explanation

HAVANA (AP)—A Catholic priest who supports the Fidel Castro regime, suspended for anti-church activities, called on his superiors today to explain his suspension.

The Rev. Germain Lence wrote that he can find no basis in church law for the suspension. Father Lence addressed his letter to Auxiliary Archbishop Evelio Diaz, highest church administrative official in Cuba.

Portions of the letter were published in the government press, which recently has increased its attacks on the clergy.

Father Lence said the suspension edict dated Dec. 12 mentions no specific accusation against him. The edict referred generally to "contumacy" or stubborn resistance to authority. His letter reiterated support for Castro's revolution.

The archbishop's office would not say if it received the letter and declined any comment. It was understood the priest had ignored repeated instructions to avoid personal involvement in political matters.

The suspension forbids him from carrying out his work as a priest.

The bomber went down in the Atlantic about 17 miles northeast of Cape Race, Nfld. Rescue planes and ships were dispatched from Argentina.

Weather in the area was clear. The cause of the crash was not known.

"You Could Be Swinging On a Star"

So went a favorite song of just yesterday. And here a workaday scrub, waiting for Santa Claus, meets on a new moon, dreaming of Christmas dreams.

With the holiday season here, now's the time for party refreshments to appear dressed in their gayest best. Such an easy thing to do, too, with a festive holiday ice cream flavor—Red Raspberry Royale—available in half-gallon and pint sizes. Gay as a holiday package, the ice cream is rich, creamy vanilla, threaded with red raspberry puree.

A favorite for youngsters of all ages, Red Raspberry Royale is delightfully served by generous spoonful, topped with a dab of whipped cream and a frozen red raspberry, or maraschino cherry. Another simple and luscious party idea with the holiday ice cream is to place Christmas cookies, or a square of plain cake on a dessert plate—then top the plate with scoops of Red Raspberry Royale!

TRADITIONAL CHRISTMAS BREAD

Stollen, like the Christmas tree, came to us from Germany. And, like the Christmas tree, it's become an American tradition. Rich and good as it is, it's easy to make. Stollen keeps well, too, so make several before Christmas and give them as gifts to very special friends.

STOLLEN
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons shortening
 1/2 cup very warm water
 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
 1 egg, beaten
 8 cups sifted flour
 1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
 1/2 cup finely cut candied citron
 1/2 cup finely cut candied cherries
 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
 1 tablespoon soft margarine or butter
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 Pinch cardamom (optional)

Sift milk and stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into bowl; (very warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved and lukewarm milk mixture and egg. Stir in 1 cup flour and almonds, citron, cherries and lemon rind. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead, adding more flour if needed to prevent dough sticking to board. Knead until dough is smooth and elastic (about 5 minutes). Shape into a smooth ball. Place in lightly greased bowl and brush top with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down. Cover and let rest 5 to 10 minutes. With palms of hands press dough into oval shape, a scant 1/2 inch thick. Spread half of oval with soft margarine or butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle on top. Fold unspread half lengthwise over sugar and cinnamon, making edges even. Lift to lightly greased baking sheet. Curve the ends slightly. Press down the folded edge, not the open edge. This helps the loaf keep its shape as it rises and bakes. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from baking sheet. When cool, frost and decorate.

FROSTING
 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
 1 tablespoon top milk or cream
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 Candied cherries, sliced
 2 tablespoons chopped or slivered almonds

Mix sugar and milk or cream to make a smooth, thick frosting that will just pour. Add vanilla. Pour over top of loaf, letting frosting drip down sides. Decorate with sliced cherries and sprinkle with almonds.

TIME FOR VIOLENCE

By Noel M. Loomis

THE STORY: While buying supplies, Bart comes face to face with Wagner, a man who has been in two rough characters.

CHAPTER X

"The bigger one was about his height but much heavier, and wore a full black mustache that hid his mouth. Bart recognized him then in spite of the gathering dusk.

"Wagner," the man said, insolently, "I hear you're a horse trader."

"You hear wrong," said Bart. "I like your black."

Bart held his temper. "I haven't got the black with me," he said.

With a sudden the man hit the cigar close to Bart's mouth. Bart's teeth were tight on it, and the cigar broke off, and the long portion dropped in the dirt at the edge of the sidewalk.

Bart's hands flashed. He held his six-shooters on the two men and said coldly, "Turn around and walk away slow and don't look back, Mr. Stud Murphy."

Four men were drifting into the street from somewhere. They saw what was going on and stayed at one side to keep out of range.

A voice from behind said, "Drop them, Wagner."

It was a new voice but not one to argue with. Reluctantly Bart straightened his fingers and let the six-shooters slide into the dirt. He swore inwardly for not watching behind him, but it was too late. Murphy's big fist caught him full on the nose. Bart stumbled back and started swinging.

"Keep your arms down," said the voice behind him.

Murphy came in on him, slugging him in the face and stomach.

He opened his eyes. A heavy boot had landed on his ribs, and he rolled away.

"Xenophon said not to make no trouble before court," a man said. Stud hesitated. "All right," he said sullenly. He picked up Bart with a huge hand twisted into the front of his vest. He stood him on his feet and hit him on the jaw, with both fists. Bart went down again, and heard Murphy say: "Next time you see me, you'll trade!"

When he was sure they had left him, Bart rolled over and got painfully to his feet. He knew he had a couple of broken ribs. He wiped the dirt off his face with his bandanna, and it came away bloody. He stood up, getting his balance. He found his hat and picked it up. He got his 44's and blew the dust out of the barrels, and put them in his holsters. The cylinders would have to be started for the wagon. Then he cleaned as soon as possible. He remembered the cigar, and went back and scratched in the dust until he found the broken piece.

It was long enough to light. He put it in his upper left vest pocket and went back to the wagon.

The hump-shouldered storekeeper, Myers, came running out. "I heard Murphy talkin'. You hurt?" he asked.

Bart licked blood from his cut lip. "I feel fine. But that doctor is going to have plenty of work when he moves here."

It was evening when he pulled into the Quarter Circle J B and up to the back door. He smelled burned wood, looked around and sniffed, saw nothing wrong. The team quieted. He tied the reins and got down as Catherine hurried out of the door.

"Bart!" she said, her eyes wide. "You've been hurt!"

He said, "It's just a scratch."

"A scratch? Your face is cut up, and I saw you get down, as if you ached all over. Oh, Bart!" She ran to him, warmth in her eyes, her arms outstretched.

He was overwhelmed by her sweetness and her obvious welcome, and he took her in his arms and kissed her on the lips.

He saw that she was as much moved as he was, and he backed away. "This kind of thing can't go on between us," he said. "It wouldn't be right."

Her eyes were on the ground. He took a deep breath. "I like you, Catherine—but that is no good excuse for carrying on with a woman like you. Maybe you've been mistreated; maybe you've been starved for love. I don't know. But don't give up to a man's arms unless you know for sure he's going to marry you—and don't take his word for it. He paused.

The smell of burned wood was strong, and he saw a board with marks burned in it, and a bridle-ring held in a pair of pincers, at one side.

Then he saw what she had burned: "Ben Lewis. Mu—"

She poured coffee, avoiding his eyes. "They—Xenophon Jones and his men—rode up and roped the other headboard and dragged it away."

He was aware that she was breathing as hard as he was. "You were in love with him?" he asked.

She looked at him with an unexpected faint crease between her eyes. "Ben had his faults, maybe," she said slowly, "but he did his best—all he knew—and he was my husband."

Former Pal of Kennedy Gets Post

BOSTON (AP)—Benjamin A. Smith II, 45, a former Harvard roommate of President-elect John F. Kennedy, has been tapped to fill out the two years remaining of Kennedy's Senate term.

Smith, a former mayor of Gloucester and currently a manufacturer in that seaport city, was notified of the appointment Tuesday night by Kennedy himself.

Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo announced late Tuesday he would name Smith to the U. S. Senate "at the suggestion of President-elect Kennedy."

Smith said the first word he had received of the appointment was a direct telephone call from Kennedy from his winter headquarters in Palm Beach, Fla.

Smith said Kennedy will resign his Senate seat Jan. 3 and that Smith would take over on the same day, giving him seniority over other freshmen senators due to be sworn in a day later.

Smith became acquainted with Kennedy when both were students at Harvard. They shared a room in Harvard's Winthrop House with Torbert H. MacDonald, now a Democratic congressman from Massachusetts.

Smith graduated in 1939, one year ahead of Kennedy, and like Kennedy served as a naval lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II.

Smith's interest in politics began in 1951 when he was elected to the Gloucester School Committee. His political activity was at the local level until 1956 when he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

In the last national convention Smith was in charge of the Kennedy drive among delegates from South Carolina and Kansas.

Landmark Razed by Fire at Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—A landmark in this world medical center went up in spectacular flames early today when fire swept the old, unoccupied Damon Hotel, once a headquarters of the famed Mayo brothers.

The three-story brick veneer building, the main section built 75 years ago, had been vacated in November and was in the process of demolition to make way for Mayo Clinic parking facilities.

The blaze broke out shortly before 4 a.m. Embers fell over the area but caused no other damage. The new Mayo Clinic building and the Kahler Hotel, across the street from the Damon, had minor smoke damage.

Firemen worked in 10-below zero weather.

The late Drs. W. J. Mayo and C. H. Mayo for many years maintained an operating room in the hotel which served as a center for people from many lands seeking medical help. At the time it was vacated it served as a nursing school residence.

Christmas Season Never Too Long

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Along about this time every year you can hear a lot of grumbling to the effect that the Christmas season is too long.

To this I say "Bah!" and "Humbug!"

The trouble with the Christmas season is that it is too short. If I had my way, the "twelve days of Christmas" would be changed to the "six months of Christmas." But I don't mean that the way it might sound. In proposing a stretch-out, I'm not thinking in terms of enjoyment, but rather of survival.

Most of us are old enough to remember the time when the Christmas season started the day after Thanksgiving. That was the day the department stores turned on the colored lights, put a carol album on the record player and opened their Christmas sales — that is, raised the prices.

Wary Of Crosby

But few stores nowadays have the patience to wait until after Thanksgiving. About the only merchants who bother with the traditionalists are the food store-operators. They have a vested interest in the holiday, it being one of the few times when they can unload pumpkins.

It is this trend toward an early yuletide that the traditionalists decry. They contend that by the time Christmas itself rolls around, people are tired of the whole thing and are eager to get on with New Year's.

Now let me make clear that I am as weary as the next man of hearing Bing Crosby dream of a White Christmas. And isn't it a blessing that we don't have those blasted Chipmunks with us as much this year?

But in deploring the situation, the traditionalists overlook a vital element which negates their argument — namely, the population explosion. There simply are too many people trying to buy gifts at the same time.

Startled By Shoppers

This point has been driven home every night this month as I have driven home from work.

In order to reach my little nest, I have to pass two big suburban shopping centers. Maneuvering an automobile by these places is roughly comparable to driving a herd of elephants through a sheep dip.

It is nothing uncommon to find traffic backed up for two or three miles behind nocturnal shoppers who are looking for a place to park. By next Christmas I prob-

Asks Patrons to Stamp Themselves

BETHLEHEM, Md. (AP) — Mary Carroll, the local postmistress, has stamped herself tired. Since 1946 she has been hand-cancelling Christmas mail brought or sent here for a Bethlehem postmark and a special cachet showing the Three Wise Men following the star.

Ill health and the volume of business this year forced her to begin a "do-it-yourself" system for persons who bring their mail to the one-room postoffice. They are asked to stamp it themselves.

Telephone Goes to High on Market

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone zoomed to a new all-time high on news of a dividend boost and pulled an irregular stock market to a gain on average Wednesday. Trading was heavy.

AT&T and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were the volume pace-makers of a surprising day in which 4.60 million shares were traded compared with 3.34 million Tuesday.

The list was wallowing in a confusion of year-end transactions late in the afternoon when news came that AT&T plans to raise the dividend to 90 cents next July from the present quarterly rate of 82½ cents and that rights would be issued to shareholders to buy one new share for every 20 held, presumably at lower than the going market price when the rights are offered.

A rush of buyers resulted in a trading halt of about 10 minutes while exchange officials matched orders. Then the stock soared to a high of 103½, for a net gain of 7½, before closing a point below its top.

Motors were depressed by a government prediction that 1961 auto sales would fall nearly 14 percent below this year's total. Oil improved under Jersey Standard's leadership. Steels were narrowly mixed as holiday plant shutdowns were scheduled. Chemicals also were irregular. Most aircrafts and tobaccos declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .30 to 219.10 with the industrials off .70 rails up 4.0 and utilities up .90 to a new high for the year.

Of 129 issues traded, 535 advanced and 495 declined. New highs for the year totaled 54 and new lows 12.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume was 1.43 million shares compared with 1.23 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were steady in more active dealings.

U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Bond trading jumped to .743 million par value from $5.73 million Tuesday.

and the moralists.

6. Ben-Hur wins big race. The chariot race was nothing compared to "Ben-Hur's" triumph in the academy sweepstakes: A record 11 Oscars.

7. The squared-off triangle. Debbie Reynolds wedded Harry Karl quietly. She formerly was married to singer Eddie Fisher, now husband of Elizabeth Taylor.

8. Liz's ailments. Few tooth-aches earned as much coverage as Liz Taylor's, which delayed filming of "Cleopatra" amid much turmoil.

9. Hollywood's runaways. The most significant business development was the rise of production overseas. Main reasons: Tax breaks for stars living abroad; subsidies and cheaper costs.

10. Million-dollar wedding. Starlet Jill St. John supplied the Cinderella tale of the year by marrying heir-speedster Lance Reventlow.

There are about 1,000 species of trees in the United States, but only about 100 species are used commercially for lumber. Most lumber comes from 35 species.

Hollywood Events Have Been Varied

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Oh, it was quite a year!

Any year is bound to bring a lion's share of news and surprises from the town called Hollywood. In 1960 it was more so. Rarely have a year's events seemed so varied.

Some news was momentous, some monumentally trivial, some sad, some amusing. As the first year of the new decade ended, it appeared that despite its business woes, Hollywood would continue to add its contribution to American culture and legend, for better or worse.

Here are the 10 stories that seemed the most newsworthy and-or significant to this reporter during 1960.

1. The death of Clark Gable. No movie death in recent years received such worldwide prominence. The reason was simple: Gable had been a part of everyone's life for more than 30 years.

2. The movie strikes. The already invaded film industry seemed in grave danger of extinction when hit by strikes of writers and actors. The gentlemanly strikes, without picketing or name-calling, ended in compromise when the guilds realized the producers wouldn't give them a royalty on old films sold to TV.

3. The Desilu schism. TV's most famous team came to a personal and corporate division when Lucille Ball divorced Desi Arnaz.

4. The Monroe-Miller split. Marilyn was seldom out of the news, and her marriage to playwright Arthur Miller was rumored in danger of a backstage romance with Yves Montand. The marriage shattered, but the Montand issue remained unsettled.

5. New moral attitudes. Hollywood films were bolder and franker in 1960. This brought a wave of reaction from Roman Catholic bishops and Protestants, too, with indications of rough relations ahead between the film industry ably won't be able to get home at all.

There is, of course, a way to avoid this ghastly entanglement. All we have to do is start the Christmas season on the Fourth of July.

I have worked out a plan under which people would shop in alphabetical order — A through E in July, F through J in August, K through O in September, P through T in October, and U through Z in November.

Note that I am leaving December open. That's when I intend to do my shopping.

A Christmas Thought—Or Two

Christmas will have a double meaning this year for movie star Liz Taylor. There'll be the usual decorating and gift-buying, with Savings Bonds for family members. But the birthday of Christ should have added significance for her after completing her latest film, "King of Kings." This newest film story on the life of Christ is due for release early next year. Meanwhile, Liz is preparing to enrich her children's Christmas with United States Savings Bonds. "I've always found Savings Bonds ideal gifts for children," she says. "And in the case of my two children, they will have a good supply to help meet their college expenses when they grow up." The 32-year-old actress has been a star of stage, screen, and television since her teens.

Holiday Confection Tree

To help the young fry through those exciting, "let's Santa here yet" days before Christmas, set their hands to stringing bright jelly drop candies and soft miniature marshmallows on trim for this gay caramel popcorn tree. Here's a wonderful gift to deck mantle or table with a festive air.

Divide the caramel corn as you would for balls, shape into trees and decorate, and presto — you have miniature trees to serve as name-card holders at a holiday party. They're such fun to make, so sure to delight, that this confection tree may well become a tradition at your house.

Holiday Confection Tree

- 25 Caramels (7 oz.)
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 quarts popped corn, salted
- Miniature Marshmallows
- Spice jelly drops

Place the caramels and water in the top of a double boiler. Heat, stirring frequently, until caramels are melted and the sauce is smooth. Pour over the popcorn and toss until every kernel is coated. With hands slightly moistened with cold water, mold caramel corn into Christmas tree shape. Let stand until surface is dry.

With needle and thread, alternately string marshmallows and spice jelly drops. Beginning at the top, wind strings around the tree. Secure at several places with toothpicks. Insert birthday candle holders and candles in jelly drops. Top tree with a star secured with a toothpick. Place tree on a tray and garnish with holly leaves.

Fraternity Suspended at U of A

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas Wednesday suspended the Kappa Sigma fraternity for one year as the result of theft of some examination papers.

Tuesday the university announced that three unidentified students had been expelled and 18 others disciplined in the incident details of which were not included.

William W. Hughes, the university information officer, said that some members of the fraternity had "engaged in theft, sale and illegal use of examinations."

"The activity was conducted in open fashion, and apparently the procedure was known and sanctioned by a considerable number of fraternity members," the Hughes statement said.

Hughes said all members were involved.

He said suspension of the fraternity had "engaged in theft, sale and illegal use of examinations."

"The activity was conducted in open fashion, and apparently the procedure was known and sanctioned by a considerable number of fraternity members," the Hughes statement said.

Hughes said all members were involved.

He said suspension of the fraternity, one of the larger ones at the university, had been recommended by the Disciplinary Committee.

The group has been suspended for the year's period as "a recognized fraternity...on the university campus," the statement said.

Most students had gone to their homes for the Christmas holiday when the action was announced. There was no statement from Kappa Sigma.

Castro Rips Up the Cuban High Court

HAVANA (AP)—In a move to sweep away the last legal obstacles to his revolution, Prime Minister Fidel Castro Wednesday decreed a shakeup of Cuba's Supreme Court.

A new Castro decree temporarily suspends a law which had prevented the dismissal of magistrates. The decree authorizes a purge and reorganization of the court and empowers President Osvaldo Dorticos and the Cabinet to fire and reassign judges.

Within hours, the government issued a list of 13 magistrates being removed. They include some already in asylum at embassies here or in exile—such as Supreme Court President Emilio Mendez and magistrates Jose Morell Riera and Francisco Alabau Trillas.

Mendez, who had been in the Argentine Embassy here for a month, flew to Argentina two days ago.

In effect, the decree permits Castro to assume control of Cuba's highest appeals court. The court repeatedly has rebuffed the

China Will Try to Stop U.S. in Laos

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China's top military man Marshal Lin Biao Wednesday pledged Peiping will do everything possible to stop U.S. aims in Laos. Lin accused the United States of "blatantly intervening by force of arms" in the Southeast Asian kingdom and menacing peace.

Lin's message, as broadcast by Peiping radio, did not say how far Red China would go in aiding pro-Communist forces in Laos. It was not sent to them directly but to Vo Nguyen Giap, defense minister in Communist North Viet Nam.

Giap, whose country has aided the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels for years, is the general who drove the French out of Indochina as commander of the Red Vietnamese armies. The occasion for the message was the 61st anniversary of the founding of the Vietnamese forces.

Pro-Western forces of Premier Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavanna, drove leftists from the capital of Vientiane last week with U.S. aid and equipment. The rebels are receiving arms by air from Soviet planes believed based in North Viet Nam.

The pledge from Lin, Red China's defense minister, served to draw the East-West battle lines more firmly in the landlocked Southeast Asian country.

Lin charged the United States and "its lackeys, the reactionary authorities in Thailand," are menacing peace in Southeast Asia by allegedly fomenting civil war in Laos.

He added that Communist China, its government and its people "are determined to exert their utmost efforts alongside the government and people of the (North) Viet Nam democratic republic to safeguard the Geneva agreements and put a stop to U.S. imperialism's intervention and aggression in Laos."

The 1954 Geneva agreements ended the Indochinese war and committed Laos to a policy of neutrality. The Communists say Boun Oum's government is too close to the West. It has won endorsement from Washington, and renewed U.S. military aid.

The United States has poured millions of dollars in aid into Laos.

government in appeals cases about indemnities due owners of seized property.

Once before Castro had tried to reform the judiciary. Immediately following the revolution, he suspended for 60 days the same law that prohibits removing magistrates. But Manuel Urrutia, then the Cuban president, blocked his efforts to purge the judges.

Castro now will be able to get at two kinds of magistrates—those he considers insufficiently adapted to his revolution and those appointed by ex-President Fulgencio Batista.

The Cabinet approved the judicial reform decree. It also endorsed another decree that establishes the scale of Christmas bonuses for workers in nationalized and privately owned businesses.

This Fellow Interesting, Not on Diet

NEW YORK (AP)—Met an interesting fellow the other night at a cocktail party. He wasn't on a diet.

Was going to retire soon, though. Wasn't worried about it either. Had it all figured out.

"I've decided on an unusual hobby," he said, reaching for a third martini. "I'm going to spend the rest of my life trying to make maturity—mainly human maturity—respectable."

"I've decided the best way to do this is through art, so I'm going to teach painting."

"Yes, sir. Painting what?"

"Why painting human maturity, of course," he said. "It's the most neglected field on earth."

"The accent on living for too long a time has been on that most perishable of all experiences—youth. We worship youth with the passion of a blind ignorance. "Actually, youth is not the whole House of Life. It is merely the foyer, something you pass through to get into the living room."

"Yes, sir."

"We age a good deal before we eat it, don't we?" the old fellow continued. "Yes, we do indeed."

"We also admire reasonable antiquity in a good whisky, a fine piece of furniture, a stout piece of cheese."

"Almost anything you can name of value is mellowed into greater appreciation by the passage of time except mankind itself. I hope to correct that."

"How, sir?"

"Why, confound it, by founding a new school of portraiture dedicated to picturing maturity at its best."

"Artists too often have taken the easy way out. They paint and immortalize things easy to draw — empty-faced things like children and kittens and still-life groupings of 'fresh' peaches and firm plums."

"Why don't they paint pictures of brunes, which, after all, are only sophisticated plums? Don't tell me. I'll tell you. Because plumes are full of wrinkles, and it takes a really serious artist to draw an honest wrinkle."

The old fellow reached out with an expert hand and speared a fourth martini from a passing tray.

"Now, in my school of painting, he went on, 'nobody will be allowed to take the easy way out. He won't be permitted to draw anything that doesn't show the wrinkles of experience.'"

"We will make age a virtue instead of a crime. We will cease to grovel before the false and temporary idol of feckless youth. We will—"

Just then a waiter paused with another platter of martinis and inquired, "another, sir?"

The old fellow hesitated and said, "Well, no, I'm not as young as I used to be."

He put his empty glass on the tray and turned and said, "What was that you were saying? You'll have to excuse me, sir. I don't hear very well."

Tanker Was in a Storied Graveyard

NONFOLK, Va. (AP)—Gale-lashed seas broke the back of an American tanker Wednesday 10 miles east of Cape Hatteras—the storied graveyard of the Atlantic.

Some of the 39-member crew floundered in the mountainous waves or clinging to the upright stern section of the vessel.

Rescue craft sped by air and sea to the stricken ship—the 417-ton Pine Ridge which had sailed in ballast from New York for Corpus Christi, Tex.

The two sections of the tanker—the bow part capsized—bobbed to the rolling seas about 100 miles east of Hatteras—off 172 miles southeast of Norfolk where 5th District Coast Guard headquarters was directing the rescue teams.

Planes and surface craft bucked 50 to 60 knot winds on their rescue missions. A Coast Guard plane dropped three life rafts, signal gear and food and water to the imperiled crew whose distress was reported by a Norwegian tanker in the area.

There was no word of any loss of life. The Norwegian ship—the Artemis—remained in the area until 7:45 p.m. unable to attempt a rescue because of the raging seas.

It rallied the Coast Guard. It had spotted four survivors in the water and an unknown number of survivors on the stern section of the Pine Ridge. The Artemis said it was raining, the wind was at 40 knots, waves were running to 30 feet and visibility was about 3 miles.

Nearest of the rescue vessels was the aircraft carrier Valley Forge, some 150 miles south-southwest of the area. The carrier planned to launch four planes to drop additional survival gear but messaged the Coast Guard in late afternoon it was abandoning the plan because of the foul weather. The Coast Guard said it was difficult to estimate an arrival time for the first rescue ship.

The number of the Artemis's crew was not known. Press in reports to the Coast Guard. "At 11:40 (a.m.) sighted the tanker broke in two while passing by in position 100 nautical miles east of Cape Hatteras. Severe gale. Mountainous seas. Afternoon doing it ok, but forecast have now capsize, but still afloat. Impossible to render any assistance under present weather conditions. One U.S. Coast Guard plane now arrived and circling over wreck."

The Coast Guard said the height of the waves was so staggering that no immediate pickup of the Pine Ridge crew seemed feasible.

The rescue plan was to get the men aboard rafts and keep track of them until the weather abated. The weather, plus distance from shore bases, worked against the use of helicopters.

Cape Hatteras, at the southern end of North Carolina's Outer Banks resort and sports fishing area, has been called a shipping graveyard because of the treacherous winds and currents in the area. The Pine Ridge, however, was well to the east of Hatteras.
